reasons to love accent decor

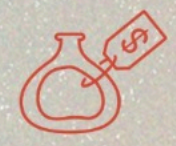

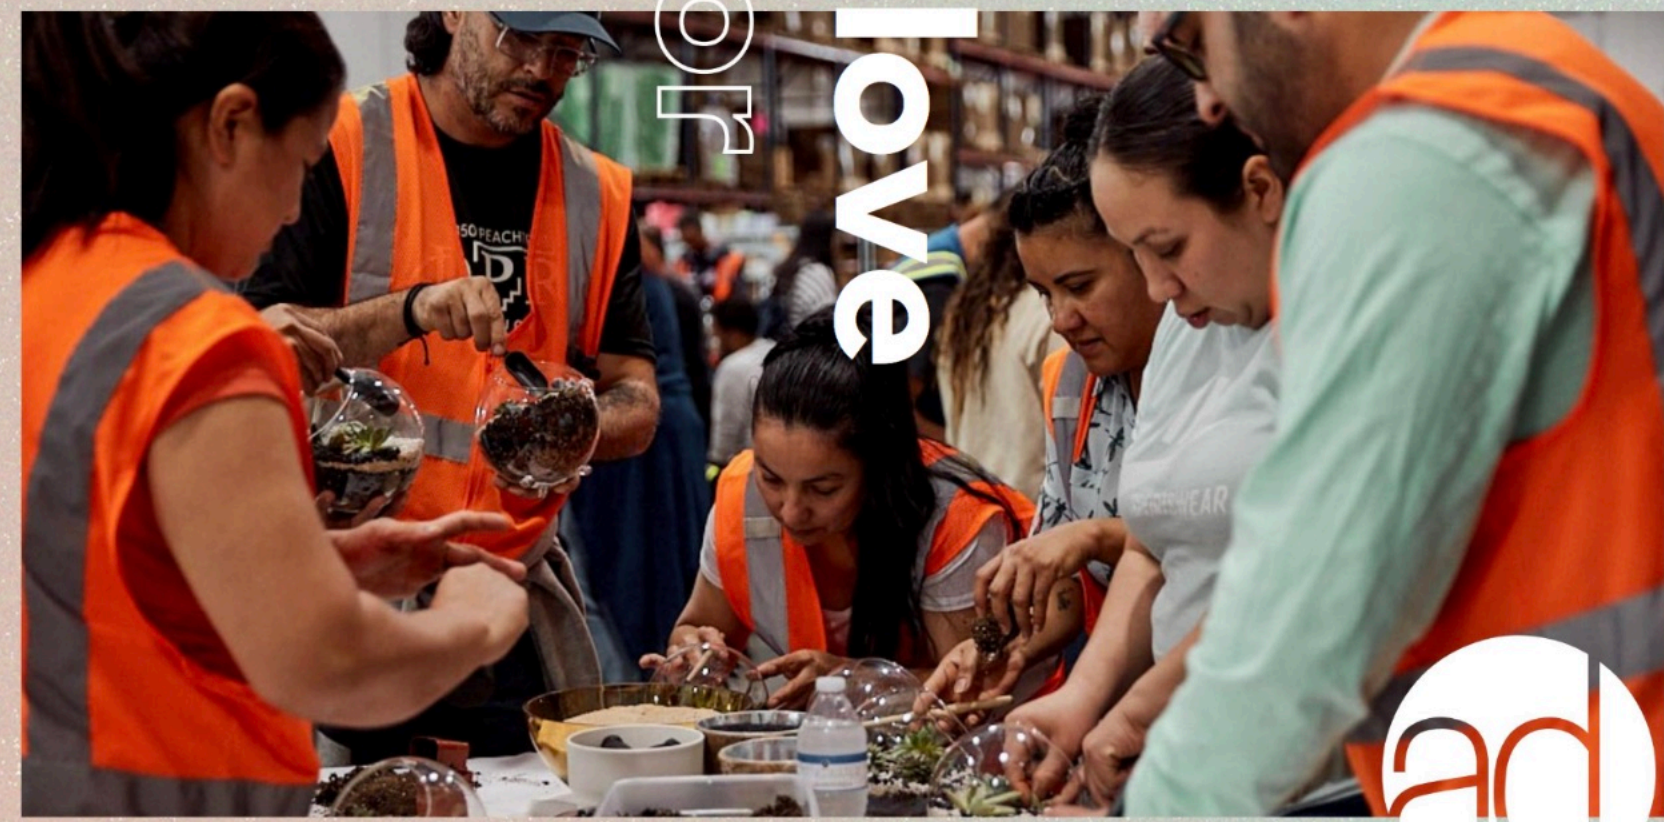

family owned & operated

We are rooted in family, from our start in 1997 by Frank and Margaret Hofland to how we operate the business today alongside their daughter, Sarah Bagle. We started with a passion for floral design, and we have since expanded to offer one-of-a-kind flower, plant, and home products.

celebrating global craftsmanship

It takes a community to create our products, and our community of skilled artisans extends around the world in 14 different countries with many designed here in house.

unique & affordable designs

We work with local artists, in-house designers, and global creators to design trend-forward, long-lasting products at an affordable price point so that you and your customers can enjoy them over and over.

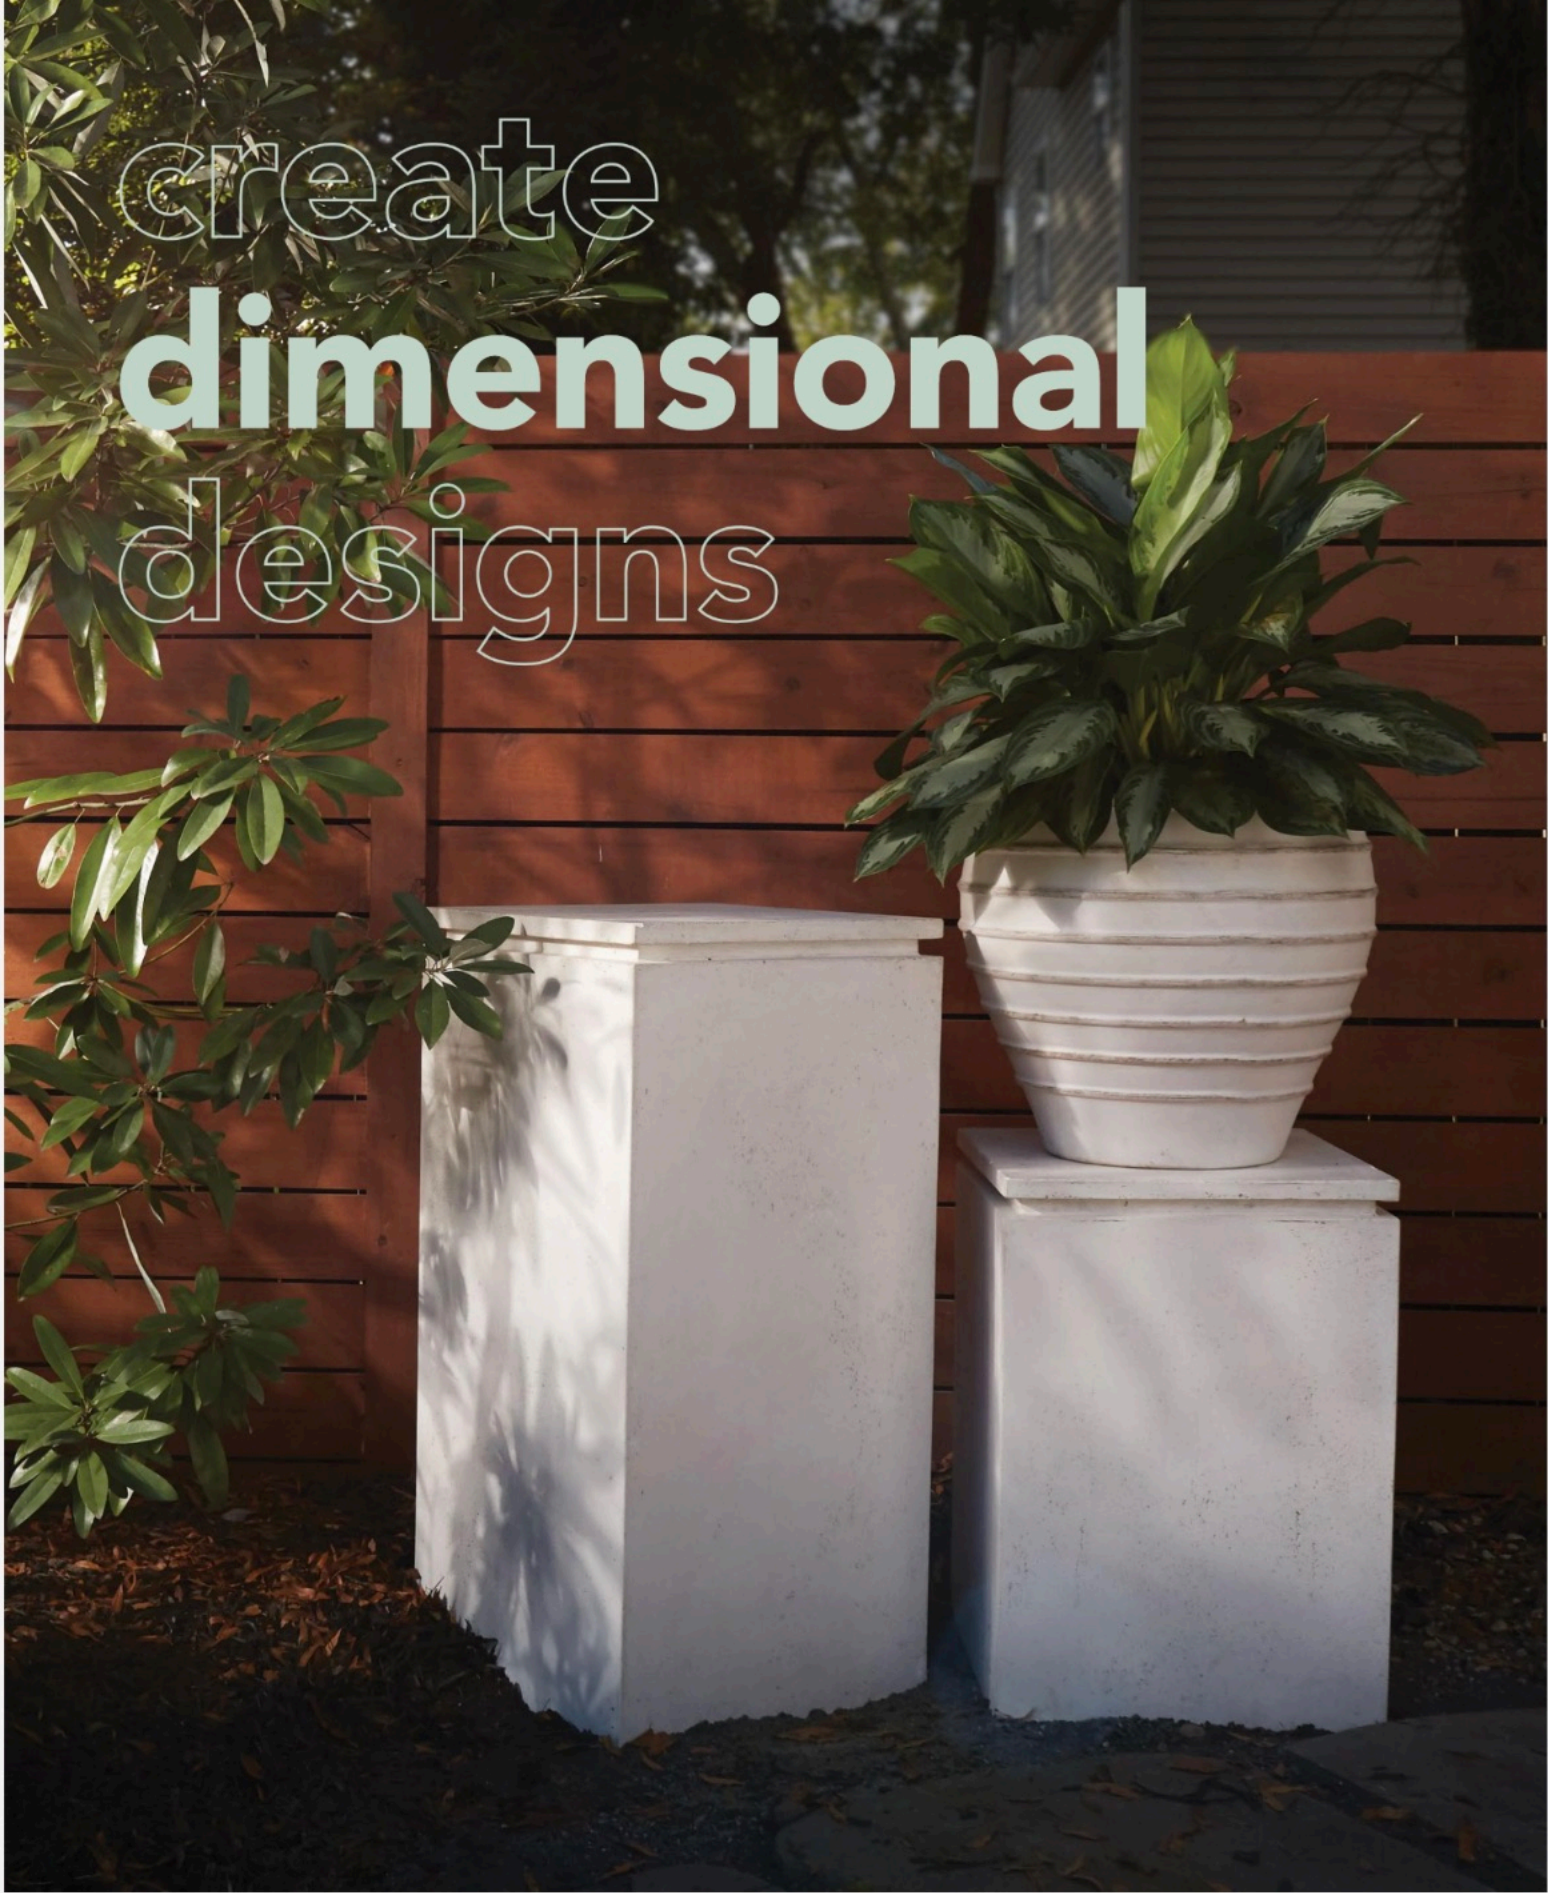

community & people focused

We are committed to spreading goodness from the inside out. 6% of our gross profits go back to the local and global communities that have shaped us.

stacks on stacks on stacks

Meet our one-of-a-kind collection of Lucca Stacking Planters, available in two sizes and multiple coordinating styles. Each style in the two size groups stack together like a puzzle to create dimensional, customizable planters that layer together for artful indoor or outdoor spaces.

In addition to purchasing the Lucca planters individually, we've curated three different kit options for each size and one of mixed sizes so you can have confidence recreating these beautiful scenes.

a finished look

The artfully crafted Parthenon features a rough lava finish, made with a special salt glaze formula, kiln-firing, and a grinding process to achieve the final unique, weathered look.
