The Tale of the Eric & Eloise Collection

It started with a fox and hare named Eric and Eloise. Designed and written by visual artist Jessica Hiemstra, the Eric & Eloise collection was first a storybook of an unlikely friendship between two forest animals. Hiemstra, niece of Accent Decor founders Frank and Margaret Hofland, took inspiration from old Scandinavian folktales about the magic of the holidays and the beauty of the natural world. From her storybook pages, Eric and Eloise were brought to life by our in-house product development designers and artisan partners in India and China.

A Growing Family

Over the years Eric and Eloise have existed in many forms, including on dinnerware, centerpieces, ornaments, and wall mounts. This wildly popular collection has grown to include 9 characters, loved by Accent Decor customers for their whimsy and charm. This season, you'll find these friendly faces on everything from drink accessories and tableware to statues and functional bowls. Each item is designed to blend seamlessly with many of our other Harvest and Holiday items for a cohesive home.

The shimmery beauty of the night sky and magical forest are captured with the Alfie Tree. Gold metal Christmas trees are perforated with dots from top to bottom and are painted with subdued holiday colors. Place a flameless candle, tealight, or battery powered string lights beneath the cones for a warm and wintry glow.
